Abstract

This document provides a report on the historical contents in the Rootes Archive Centre and The Imp Club Ltd. pertaining to the manufacturing of the Hillman Imp and its variants and its use by the works for prototype development and competition purposes. The archive contains drawings and other engineering department and factory production records from 1961-1975. We provide here simply a factual listing of the archive holdings, other reflections on the historical and social implications of the Imp car production are merely referenced, but many books and magazine articles are available on the subject in addition to the Imp Club's own monthly magazine, Impressions.

This document is available from the Rootes Archive Centre Web site at <http://tardis.dl.ac.uk/ARCC/Imp/drawings/index.html>. A PDF format copy of this document can be obtained from <http://tardis.dl.ac.uk/ARCC/Imp/drawings.pdf>. You probably won't want to print it as there are over 200 pages, but it is searchable with a suitable PDF reader.

1 Introduction

This document provides a report on the historical documents in the Rootes Archive Centre and The Imp Club Ltd. pertaining to the manufacturing of the Hillman Imp and its variants and its use by the works for prototype development and competition purposes. The archive contains drawings and other engineering department and factory production records from 1961-1975. We provide here simply a factual listing of the archive holdings, other reflections on the historical and social implications of the Imp car production are merely referenced, but many books and magazine articles are available on the subject in addition to the Imp Club's own monthly magazine, Impressions.

For further information about the Rootes Archive Centre please refer to its Web site <http://www.rootesarchivecentre.org> and for The Imp Club Ltd., its own Web site at <http://www.theimpclub.co.uk>.

This document should be read together with the Imp Parts List, its Supplement and the WSM141 Workshop Manual. PDF format copies of them can be found here. They are large, but can be bought on CD as regalia items from The Imp Club.

2 The Index

The index is a set of cards in six drawers in its own heavy steel cabinet. There is one card per drawing and information about who accessed them and when. These are known as "drawing issue cards". We have yet to fully analyse what this information might tell us. Unfortunately this is an incomplete record of withdrawals since, once a card was "full", it seems to have been replaced by a new one as noted on some of them.

The drawing issue cards in the Archive cover many other models in the Rootes range in addition to Imp and derivatives. This is however the only index we have and it was hitherto impossible to locate a drawing number from a text description of the part, although reference to the published parts lists helps for "finished parts" (see below). By having the drawing numbers and titles entered on computer, we aim to provide a searchable list and make it easier to locate individual drawings or sets pertaining to the manufacturing process and changes to specification over the 13 years of Imp manufacture. Actually the time period covered is more, as the first Imp drawing dates from July 1960 and the last from February 1977.

Drawings numbers are in two ranges, from 7100000 to 7106066 on the left hand side and 7200000 to 7291200 on the right hand side. Other part numbers are from the range of Rootes Company Limited standard parts which are catalogued separately in books now at the Rootes Archive Centre.

We have yet to fully understand the link between the system of numbering the drawings and the Parts List for the Imp Range. We note from inspection of the drawings themselves that the numbering is not simply chronological. Some of the numbers have also been changed from their original 7 digits to 8 digits. The prefix used also varies and is either '7', e.g. making 7212710 into 77212710. Others have an 'S' indicating possibly a "scheme" which may or may not have gone into production, e.g. 7212960 becoming S7212960. We do not know what is implied by the 'A' or 'X' prefix.

Some of the index cards for the body panel drawings have another number which may be the Rootes Pressings number. This mostly follows a pattern, so 7201338 becomes 11500/0338 etc. This changes later so that 7202001 becomes 21500/0001 and 7203300 becomes 31500/0300 etc. However this conversion does not always work. This theory is confirmed by one card for drawing number 7202521 which states ND, master held at Linwood PSF 31500/0127.

There are other numbers on some cards, such as 20097400.500 on drg 77212826-7 or 201626.00 on drg 77212870. We do not know what these mean.

In working through the first drawing cabinet we tackled, number 40, Roger Swift and I noted that in some cases there are several different drawings for the same part. This pertains to the manufacturing process. For instance, for the early camshaft 7100000 there are casting drawings, a finished drawing and a drawing showing specification of the camshaft profile. The only number found in the parts list is the finished part number, 7100000, but the camshaft will be stamped with the number 7010103. Similarly the later Sport camshaft stamped with 7010157 is finished part number 7100423 which may cause some confusion. These are the casting numbers. There are similar sets of drawings for other cast or forged parts.

Because of the length of time it is taking to check and catalogue all the drawings based on the information drawn on them, we have decided to focus for a while on the index and note the drawing titles and numbers from these cards. Further information will be completed later and the information transferred to the second set of tables in Section 3.

The index cards also indicate the size of the drawing. They were originally labelled 1 to 4. Number 1 corresponds to approximately A4 size. Higher numbers have been re-marked "Bin" which indicates that they are in the full size cabinets. Once our listing is complete they will be moved to Section 3.

2.1 Drawer 1 – 7005500 to 7102199

Some information already transferred to Section 3. 7010005-7010098 moved from Drawer 2 as were probably mis-filed or dropped in the move.

Some highlights of this cabinet include:

Acceptance criteria:

Torque settings:

Lip seal on Imp engine: S7101403

Rear suspension: 7102000 onwards

Note 1: ND probably indicates “no drawing”.

Note 2: Many of the smaller drawings are with the Imp Club. This needs to be cross checked with the list in Section 3.

This initial data-entry work was completed on 3rd March 2007. During our work a small number of cards were found to have been mis-filed and some duplicates existed. These have now been replaced in their correct positions in the index.

3 Lists of the Drawings

This section lists the drawings in the full size cabinets, referred to as “Bin” on the index cards. These are now located in the main room in the Rootes Archive Centre.

Some drawings are in the possession of The Imp Club, these are as follows. The other Imp drawings are listed as they hang in the cabinets in the Archive Centre and are referenced in the associated card index.

5 ECR and EMR: Engineering Change and Modification Requests

A large quantity of engineering change requests exist and we have yet to check through these. It is likely that they contain substantial information about when and why the production specifications were altered which could explain a lot about the models we have today and the process by which they evolved to be durable and reliable. Some of these change requests would also have resulted in service bulletins so that changes could be retro-fitted to cars already sold.

Note some of the ECR numbers are marked on the drawing issue cards and in the master record books.

This is only a sample of the ECRs taken from the last index card drawer. This has not been done systematically yet.

It is interesting to note that the records for what is referred to as the North Factory (Linwood) and the Stoke Factory appear to be distinct, presumably reflecting the different parts of the production process carried out on each site.

We now simply list the first and last and a few other interesting sheets from these books. There are too many to give a complete list.

6.1 MALs: Model Assembly Lists

The MALs describe the Imp models built in the different years and what “units” were required for them. The Units are specified in Folios as described below. The Master Records all refer to releases or changes to the Folios based on Engineering or Production Change Requests (ECRs and PCRs). The MALs that have survived are in two Master Record books covering years H and 3, 4 and 5, but it is simpler to just list them by number. We note that the complexity of year H was drastically reduced in subsequent years by the axeing of many models. The Van and Husky were deleted in February 1971 and the Stiletto in July that year.

6.3 Units

Folios were used to define the “Units” used to build all the above separate models. Most unit numbers were the same as the folio number but with another appended number. These are similar to the numbers used for the MALs, but there does not appear to be a direct mapping. For instance the Bond 875 required unit 2A/111 (Engine Stoke) from folio 01, 37/322 (Chassis items CKD) from folio 37 and 38/322 (Body trim and hardware CKD) from folio 38. In this case all other components were supplied by Bond Cars Ltd. The Bond MAL is number 399999.

We list below the different units from Folio 53 “Body as Delivered”. These are the different body types referenced in the MALs and required to build each model of Imp. They approximately correspond to Home, Export LHD and Export RHD for each body shape, but there are a few additions such as the 900 and Sunbeam export models which probably had different drilled holes for trim. The North American Specification (Spring Special) is also listed as a Sunbeam de-Luxe NAS.

8 Service Bulletins

This section lists the Rootes Private and Confidential Service Bulletins which were issued to service agents to update them with important information. They were to amend the workshop manuals used in maintaining customer's cars and also provided advice on changes to the specifications or accessories. The numbers of the bulletins therefore follow the section numbers of the Rootes workshop manuals. Note this is not the same as the sections in the parts list.

The issuing of bulletins is probably the most important manifestation of the Engineering Change Request process, as you can see the immediate effect upon car production, servicing and ultimately your own car.

8.1 List of Service Bulletins

The following list is for years 1964-66 plus years 1966-68 and 1969-73. It seems the numbers in each section were re-used as the information was re-released, but original release dates were kept when lists were re-issued. This makes it possible to list all bulletins issued during the period in section and date order.

This list covers all contemporary cars produced. We have other lists, but I am only doing the ones which cover the Imp production period. I am expecting other Club members to help to complete this on-line catalogue. Unfortunately we do not have the equivalent lists for commercial vehicles.

Some highlights are listed here.

B8: Imp and Chamois rally conversion 998, cylinder head gasket

O95: Weathershields Sun-Way folding roof was approved for Imps

9 Production Lists of Export Models

[Not sure if this section is correct]

Several books exist containing what we believe to be the full record of all Imps exported. They identify the models, quantities and dates produced and their country of destination. This was a very important part of British industry at the time with a huge export drive accounting for some 40% of cars produced.

10 Photographs

Numerous photographs are available in the archive including some of famous owners of Rootes cars, some used for competition and also of the production process and the Rootes family. These supplement the press photos which we used in the book A Dream for Linwood [1]. There is also a cabinet containing photographic negatives which is as yet un-catalogued.

10.1 Photographic Negatives

Just to give a taster, these are some things found in the top drawer. These negatives are numbered and kept in numerical order, but there is little other information about them.

Many of the rest of these negatives date from around 1970-71 and show the design study (cars A, B, C, D in various states of finish) which lead to the Avenger. There are also many showing tests on early Avengers. Others show the interior of factories and other buildings, on series is of machinery which appears to be for sale, possible at the closure of the T??? plant.

There is a card index of some previous negatives. Some of these feature Imps, e.g. one is a company car which was damaged in an accident and had been repaired. Unfortunately it seems the negatives themselves no longer exist.
