

The COMMER "Yellow Peril" Lord Lonsdale's Shooting Brake

The Commer Car is in fact an early bus. The original owner of this particular vehicle was Lord Lonsdale who used it on his Cumbrian estate.

The present owner's father found the vehicle in a barn in Dunstable, Bedfordshire, in the mid 1960s. The official programme notes that it then took four years to rebuild it, and thereafter it was used for numerous trips to the continent. The car now has its own history, because it was damaged in the great storm of 1987 (I wonder what happened) and required more work. Today it is still used for day trips.
